

Heat capacity for pure parameters of equation of state

이주호, 이철수*
고려대학교 화공생명공학과
(cslee@korea.ac.kr*)

Saturated Heat capacity was used for new parameter set source of non-cubic equation of state. Besides previous saturated liquid molar density and pressure, heat capacity was introduced to calculate correct hydrogen-bonding parameter sets.

This newly obtained parameter was used to correlate excess enthalpy data and showed good consistency.